Supported Living

Turning Point delivers high quality care services for people with learning disabilities. Experts in supported living for those with complex needs, Turning Point helps more than 300 people across England live life to the full.

The challenge

People with learning disabilities have the right to high quality support. But finding the right support, from the right provider, at the right price is a challenge. Not all services are the same. People with learning disabilities can't be sure they will receive a good standard of care, and personalised, outcome-focussed support for those with high-level, profound and complex needs is hard to find.

The solution

Turning Point can offer a superior, flexible, supported living service that makes it possible for people with a wide range of needs to live an active, rewarding life. We deliver services that provide independence, choice and control for the people we support. The choice to have friends and relationships; opportunities to work and study; to be involved in and contribute to the local community – and the choice of where, and with whom, they want to live. An expert national organisation, Turning Point has the experience to provide a quality service that delivers results that really mean something to the people we support.

At Turning Point, because we've been supporting people with learning disabilities in the community for decades, we have the experience, resources and skill to devise cost-effective solutions no matter how complex a person's needs. We can help you use resources more effectively and improve quality, reprovide accommodation, support people to move out of NHS campuses and ensure a smooth, streamlined transition service.

Supported Living: A new way of working

At Turning Point we turn lives around. We do this by empowering people to make their own decisions and choices. With the right one-to-one support, people with even the most complex needs can take control of their own lives, learn new life-skills, become full, active, independent members of the local community and live their lives with dignity. We know that the more complex someone's needs are, the harder we need to work to make this a reality.

Supported Living: A partnership approach

At Turning Point we've been working with local, regional and national organisations for more than 40 years.

We understand the real need to work in partnership with the community and all stakeholders, families and other providers to educate, overcome stigma and uphold the rights of all people to live fulfilled lives. When you choose Turning Point you become part of a bigger network, one that offers real benefits. We can inject new ideas and the latest best practice; help you deliver new assisted technology, help you take control of your targets, make new contacts and deliver a world-class service that sets new standards.
